Dear Lee:-

This is a copy of a letter sent you from above address but addressed wrong. I am conventioning-attending an interesting meeting on Severe Institution Management. Came up yesterday after Ed. meeting. Took long walk last night studying the crowds in this crowded city-much of the crowding, of course, due to the war situation, boys on leave by the hundreds, their families, girls, etc. So many of the youngsters lack the background for the rapid changes of scenery they are experiencing. It's a pathetic sight. But there are a lot of fine features-boys who have what the situation calls for and who are making the most of everything, enriching their lives for future usefulness.

Sam Lowry and Mackeweg were powerhouse for Baltimore in defeating Louisville in the Little World Series. The latter goes to Cleveland next year. I hope he makes the grade.

We're getting set for another basketball season.

Dr. Conley and M.N. Neal asked me to send their best to you when I wrote.

Here's to you every where and always!

Dad -
