

July 10, 1945

Dearest Lee:

Those were fine pictures we received in yesterday's mail. Many people have admired them already.

Did I tell you that I went with daddy Saturday night to see the Blue Rocks beat Trenton? The new manager of the Phillies was there and introduced to the crowd. It was the first time this year that I had been out.

The girls selected Julia's birthday present,- a leather jewel case and a pair of earrings, which I hope meets with your approval. The cost $6.90.

Bernice did not get her job at Bird,Speakman's. They wanted someone for full time. Shirley is going in to the Delaware Hospital this afternoon to work on the cardiograph. Dr. Edgar was too busy,- as usual- to go into details about duties, salary, etc., but she must spend some time learning the job and this she will begin to do. I think she would have liked to "loaf" until after Brandywiners and your visit, but when such a thing presents itself one has to take it. Jobs for girls are much harder to get than a few years back- especially summer jobs. Emily Sanders has not located anything yet.

I had a nice note from George Wolf this morning. He evidently enjoyed his stay with us. It looks as if he might be enrolling at Delaware this fall,- in order to be near Shirley, I guess. I don't know whether this is a good thing or not. His younger brother will also enroll as a freshman.

We are taking the Boykins to Philadelphia with us Thursday night to hear the concert. I do hope you get home in time to enjoy some.

With all my love.

Mother

P.S. Eleanor Denny was married last night. I'll try to get the clipping and mail to you in the next letter. I believe your sisters are to have their pictures in the Sunday Star, with a write-up on their "sister act" in Iolanthe.