Monday morning

[March 22, 1943]

Dear Lee:-

As long as Shirley has a letter written to go off to you I'll take time out to run off a few lines. I'm held up on my work anyhow this morning, for the tank is empty and there is no hot water for laundry. It's good that it is not a very cold morning.

I do hope by this time you have received the letter containing the $15. which was mailed airmail a week ago last Saturday. With so many changes I guess a lot of your mail is being held up.

Would it be possible for Polly to visit you at the canteen, or is even that prohibited?

Yesterday was Julia Ann's birthday and she and Dorothy Hartzell were in church. I got to have a few minutes with Dorothy and she told me about the same things which Ralph Bentz wrote you. Does it look, then, as tho the fraternity houses were not going to be used by the cadets after all? I believe she said all the boys had come up from some camp in Georgia.

Daddy received a letter from Bob Cassel yesterday, concerning Neuber's membership certificate which they seem to be having a hard time locating. He said you left with the word that you would mail it to Neuber's parents and it had not been received. I looked among your possessions on the desk and found it this morning, so I am mailing it direct to Mrs. Neuber, for Cassel gave us her address. Are there any other things which you should attend to?

I gave Daisy your address yesterday, so I imagine you'll be hearing from her before long. Uncle Marion's address is 1312 Lakeside Ave., Baltimore. Uncle Roger's is 113 W. 17th St., and Mr. Baker's, Chas. W. Baker, Jr., Greenville. Mr. Baker called about 10 o'clock last night to say they had gotten a call from the school which Betsy attends saying it looked as tho she had appendicitis, so he and Mrs. Baker were leaving for N.Y. on the midnight.

Have you mailed your laundry box yet? I am waiting until it arrives before I have your clothes sent to the cleaner's and packed away. I also sent you last week a box of writing paper, which you no doubt need by this time.

Lots of love and let me know about the letter with the money.

Mother
